OLD BUISINESS

Westside Project/ Contractor Interviews

The board held a meeting to interview contractors for the Westside project, with Fields, FCC, and Sunbelt being the three companies selected for review.

The meeting focused on discussing construction access and timeline details for a building renovation project. The board explained that full access to units would be maintained except during specific phases like topping slab replacement, which would require approximately 3 weeks of restricted access, and offered to provide a faster timeline if the building were fully shut down, though this would not result in significant cost savings. The board discussed the possibility of building shutdown but expressed concerns about displacing full-time residents, with Shannon noting that displacement would be unfair to permanent residents who could not easily find alternative housing. Ceci clarified that no owner would receive reimbursement for displacement costs since all owners would be equally affected by the work. Discussion ensued.

The board encouraged owners to email their thoughts on the shutdown options before the next meeting on the 20th, when final numbers and contractor decisions will be presented for voting.
